WCTE 2016
August 22-25, 2016 | Vienna, Austria

Exhibition / Sponsorship

Welcome to WCTE 2016!

WCTE 2016 is organized by Vienna University of Technology, which was founded in 1815 and is one of the leading technical universities in Europe. The different scientific backgrounds of the involved Faculties of Architecture & Planning and Civil Engineering will generate great synergies in combining engineering and architecture.

This will also be reflected in the conference program, in which besides maintaining the traditional focus on timber engineering, great efforts will be placed in bridging the links between timber engineering, wood-based industries, architecture, and the building sector in general.

Austria has a long tradition of using wood for building structures and is together with Germany the world's biggest Glulam producer and is leading the world production in Cross-Laminated Timber panels. The well-developed wood-related research sector provides the necessary background for innovation and helps to optimize sustainability and resource efficiency.

Exhibition/Sponsorship

The world-famous inner court of the imperial university building with covered arcades will be a unique location to expose timber-related industrial products and to bring together professionals of different areas. The exhibition will be open to the public and is handled by the "forum-holzbau", an international group of universities annually realizing Europe's most important meeting in the field of timber construction, incl. a professional exhibition.
